Highlights have included:

- Propagation properties of paraxial optical waves in different media of nonlinear media with arbitrary degree of anisotropy
- A novel anisotropic reflection periodic microstructure
- A novel detection method of optical isochromy
- Temperature characterization of collagen and chitin based on the combined nonlinear optical imaging technique coupled with two-photon spectrofluorimetric method
- Temperature effect on optical properties of the natural of carbon nanotube
- UV² reflector/transparent application
- A novel fiberoptic grating high-temperature sensor
- Photo-dependent properties for absorption and dispersion in a closed ring resonator of fiber Bragg grating system
- Photo-erasable algorithm, especially based on post-processing and three-color structure
- A high-speed image coding technique with adjustable frame rate based on an arbitrary LUT
